

2. Output Reduction System

The gear train of the RA61F manual transmission has adopted the output reduction system in order to make the transmission compact and lightweight, and reduce the amount of shift effort. The diagram below describes the differences between the output and input reduction systems.

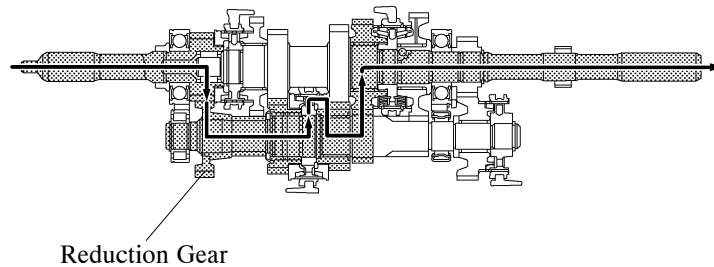

► Shifting into 3rd with output reduction system ◀

275TU85

5

► Shifting into 3rd with input reduction system ◀

163CH12